Beyond Twelve Gates by Rabbi Ze'ev Smason

Beyond Twelve Gates' refers to a beautiful concept taught by the great mystic Rabbi Isaac Luria (1534-1572), also known as 'The Ari'. There exist twelve gates of prayer in Heaven — one for each tribe of Israel. There also exists a Heavenly thirteenth gate. Through this gate the prayers of all Jews, regardless of tribe, Jewish education or level of observance, are allowed to enter and are heard by G-d.

Parshas Vayikra

Welcome to Beyond Twelve Gates

"Jewish Country Western Singer" may sound like an oxymoron. But don't tell that to Ray Benson, the nine-time Grammy-winning leader of the country western swing band 'Asleep at the Wheel.' At 6-foot-7, Benson literally and figuratively towers over the country western scene. Until recently, Benson kept his religious identity out of the limelight. "I didn't want to be known as a Jewish country western singer; I wanted to be known as a country western singer who happens to be Jewish," he said. "For years, because I'm 6' 7" and people don't think Jews are tall, and because I guess I don't look like the stereotype Jew, most people don't know I'm Jewish."

In the 1970s, when his band first started touring, Benson repeatedly came up against offhand prejudice and ignorance about Jews and Judaism. He cites as an example a member of Tammy Wynette's entourage, who blamed "the Jews in New York" for failing to promote her career. Then there's the wife of a musician who had never heard of Judaism as a religion. "I asked her what she thought a Jew was, and she said, 'Someone who's cheap,'" Benson recalled. "So the stereotypes are there, and they're still there. I always felt myself to be an ambassador. I'm not a great practicing Jew on a daily basis, but I'm Jewish."

It is the privilege and responsibility of every Jew to sanctify our Creator's Name by living according to the highest standards of morality. Regardless of our level of Jewish education or observance, each of us is an ambassador for G-d and the Torah. Through living a life of honesty, compassion and sanctity, we can fulfill our mission of being a "Light unto the Nations."

Parshas Vayikra – Leviticus 1:1 - 5:26

This Shabbos marks the beginning of our reading the third book of the Torah, Sefer Vayikra, which deals primarily with the services and responsibilities of the Kohanim. This week's portion focuses on many of the korbanos (offerings) to be brought in the newly-constructed Mishkan. Parshas Vayikra begins with G-d calling Moses into the Mishkan where he will receive the many relevant mitzvos to be ultimately passed on to the Jewish people. The first half of the Torah portion describes the various optional korbanos brought by individuals. They can be classified into three general categories, each one comprised of several gradations in size and expense; the korban olah (elevation offering) which is completely consumed on the altar; the korban mincha (meal offering) which, because of its inexpensive contents, is usually brought by someone of modest means; and the korban shelamim (peace offering) partially burned on the altar, with the remainder divided between the owners and the Kohanim. The second half of the portion (beginning with chapter four) discusses the required chatos (sin) and asham (guilt) offerings to be brought in atonement for unintentional transgressions.

Rabbinic Ruminations

The male peacock is well known for its courtship displays, during which it fans its colorful tail feathers to attract a mate. But if attractive plumage fails to please her, perhaps she will fall for a trick used in Las Vegas casinos. At least, that is the approach taken by male bowerbirds, who weave optical illusions into their bowers (structures made of sticks) that may fool potential mates into thinking that the males are larger than they are.

Bowerbirds, native to Australia and New Guinea, are renowned for the optical illusions they create by arranging objects in the bower court area from smallest to largest. This creates a forced perspective in which all of the objects in the court appear to be the same size. Consequently, the female will perceive the court as being smaller than it actually is, and the male to be bigger. During his courtship display, the male waves objects towards the female, causing their apparent size to increase. These visual tricks manipulate females' perceptions and increase their likelihood of choosing the builder as their mate. "This is a fascinating example of the complexity of animal behaviors," said James Ha, a cognitive behavior researcher at the University of Washington in Seattle. "I can't think of any other animal that clearly uses optical illusions." Contemplating the complex and intelligent design of the Creation should prompt us to exclaim: "O Lord, how great is the number of your works! In wisdom you have made them all; the earth is full of the things you have made." (Psalm 104:24)

Quote of the Week

"If you learn from a mistake, it really wasn't a mistake after all." -- Vince Lombardi

Joke of the Week

A young man asked his grandfather how he made his money.

His grandfather said, "Well, son, it was the depths of the Great Depression. I was down to my last nickel. I invested that nickel in an apple. I spent the entire day polishing the apple, and at the end of the day I sold the apple for ten cents. The next morning, I invested those ten cents in two apples. I spent the entire day polishing them and sold them for 20 cents. I continued this system for a month."

"And that's how you built an empire?" the boy asked.

"Oh no" the grandfather replied. "Then my wife's father died and left us two million dollars."

OYVEY!

Last Chance to Get Recognized !

Our new shul is up and running; the Stained Glass Windows have been installed. Soon we will install recognition boards with the names of all those who have contributed to the Capital Campaign. We will install a beautiful Wall of Honor and a Scroll of Honor in the lobby to recognize various levels of giving, and are now in the process of compiling the lists of names.

Before these honor rolls are completed, we want to give everybody a final opportunity to have his or her name permanently inscribed for all to see. If you have already contributed, please consider increasing your pledge. If you have not as yet contributed, please join us in being a true partner in building the shul.

We will soon complete the design of the Wall of Honor and Scroll of Honor. To be included, please make your pledge no later than Friday, March 30, 2012.

Please call Menachem Szus, Capital Campaign Chairman, to discuss any contribution or dedication that you would like to make. During work hours, call 314-428-2208; at other times call 314-629-8741.

Thanks to Andy & Ellen Berg for donating the new flags on each side of the Ark.

This year, NHBZ raised $1395 for Od Yosef Chai

Stump the Rabbi

Ask Rabbi Smason questions about Judaism. Any question is fair game! You can ask your questions in person, or by email at: Pepshort613@gmail.com

Question: Last Shabbos, we all stood up when we finished the Book of Exodus. What was that all about?

Answer: When the last sentence of each of the Five Books of the Torah is about to be read, everyone rises in anticipation of what is said by all at the end of the reading: Chazak, chazak v'nischazek -- Be strong, be strong, and may we be strengthened! This is a call of encouragement to continue with the reading of the next Book, and to return to this one in due course. The triple use of chazak may symbolize the past, present and future. The inspiration for saying these words in connection with finishing a section of the Torah may come from the Talmudic passage that "Four (elements) need to be strengthened: Torah, good deeds, prayer, and derech erez (work)." A source for being strengthened in Torah can be found in the Book of Joshua (1:7): "Only be strong (chazak) and very courageous, and observe to do according to all the Torah, which Moshe my servant commanded you." (from: To Pray as a Jew, Rabbi Donin)

Today is Shabbos HaChodesh

Sabbath of the "Month" – March 24

Shabbos HaChodesh is the Shabbos that occurs on or before the first day of the month of Nisan during which Passover is observed. We read an extra Torah portion, Exodus 12:1-20, which talks about preparations for Passover, which begins on Nisan 15. With one simple line, it establishes the Hebrew calendar: "This month shall be for you the beginning of the months, it shall be for you the first of the months of the year." In the Hebrew calendar, months are counted from Nisan in the spring, but years are counted from the month of Tishri in the fall. The corresponding haftarah portion is Ezekiel 45:16-46:18, which also talks about the first months and the offerings at that time.

Getting to Know You

by Roving Reporter Robin Rickerman

This week featuring Michelle Mufson.

Tell me a bit about your family history.

I am the youngest of 4 siblings all having grown up at NHBZ - Diane, Allan, Randi, and me. My mom was from Boston and came to St. Louis for a wedding, and she met my dad, Sam Bluestein ....it was love at first sight. I married my husband Ephraim 20 years ago and we have two children Joey and Emma.

What is your favorite holiday and why?

Sukkos. I enjoy spending time with friends and family in a Sukkah as the seasons are changing .....my favorite.

What is something about you that most people don't know?

I am a financial advisor for Merrill Lynch as a Chartered Retirement Planning Counselor. (And, I am a cousin of Robin Rickerman!)

How did we become so fortunate to have you as a member of Nusach Hari?

I grew up here and everyone is family.

If you could travel, ANY WHERE IN THE WORLD, where would you go and what would you do?

I would love to go to Israel to live.

Next Week is Shabbos HaGadol

The Great Sabbath – March 31

The Shabbos before Pesach commemorates the 10th day of Nissan, when the Hebrew slaves took the lambs that they were going to offer for Pesach and tied them up outside their homes, to keep until they offered them on the 14th. This was a very dangerous thing to do, because Egyptians worshipped sheep; but, miraculously, instead of slaughtering the Hebrews, the Egyptians instead fought with each other over whether the Hebrews should be sent away already. The special haftarah for this Shabbos is Malachi 3:4 - 3:24, which tells about the return of Elijah the prophet and coming of the Messiah. We believe that Elijah will return at Pesach, and that is why we include a cup of wine for him at the seder.

Reminder . . .

Our beautiful new shul is our home for prayer, learning and socializing. Please remember to take care of it as if it is your own home. If a drink is spilled or if you see some food on the carpet, please notify William or clean it up before some-body slips or grinds it into the carpet. Smudged finger-prints or dirt on the walls, windows or furniture are unsightly. If we each take responsibility for the appearance of our building, we will continue to be proud of our beautiful shul.
