Parshas Vayikra

The third book of the Torah is called Vayikra. This first word refers to G-d who "called" Moshe to present to him the laws of the Korbonos, the various sacrifices. Hashem called Moshe frequently. Certainly, this is a great compliment to a human being, to be called by G-d. Yet Moshe was a very humble person and, consequently, when he wrote down the word Vayikra, he wrote it with a small "aleph" at the end of the word, and is the way it appears in the Chumash as well as in the text of the Torah. Why? Visually, it looks as if the word is Vayiker rather than Vayikra. It is a lesser praise to say Vayiker than Vayikra. Vayiker means that G-d chanced to meet Moshe, whereas Vayikra means that He called Moshe.

A famous Chassidic teacher, R. Bunin, explains that Moshe Rabbeinu "was not impressed with his own achievements. He remained small in his own eyes, like an ordinary man standing on a high roof. Surely, such a man would take no pride in his height. He knows that it is only the roof which raises him to great heights. Moshe understood his greatness, but he was certain that it was not of his own doing. Rather, it was Hashem who had blessed and raised him. How then could he show pride?"

Why did Hashem request that our ancestors offer sacrifices? There are two distinct opinions – 1) the Rambam, followed by Abarbanel, and 2) the Ramban, supported by Ibn Ezra. The Rambam (Maimonides) states that the Israelites became accustomed to idolatrous sacrifices – a practice universally used for worship in those times. To wean them away, G-d tolerated the sacrifices, but commanded that they be directed to Him, according to His laws – kosher animals to be used and the most humane method of slaughter employed - shechita.

Ramban (Nachmonides) and Ibn Ezra reject this interpretation. The Hebrew word for sacrifice is Korban, which is derived from a root word meaning "to draw near". According to the Ramban, "sacrifices were a positive vehicle through which the sinner could come closer, or return, to G-d. He points out that each mandated step of the sacrificial ritual had a symbolism that had a potent effect upon the penitent. As he acted out these steps, he was overwhelmed with the awareness that he had sinned against G-d with his body, soul, thought and speech. Our sages stress that the sacrifice had to be preceded by restitution of the wrong committed and by repentance, expressed in a confession (Vidui). The thrust of the sacrifice was to affect and change the worshipper, as opposed to pagan sacrifice, where the objective was to affect and placate the idol".

The first portion of Vayikra discusses five major offerings, which were given during the days we had a Mishkan (tabernacle). 1) Olah – the burnt offering to atone for not having lived up to one's potential as a Jew. 2) Neder or Nedava – to show that all of our possessions belong to G-d. 3) Chatas – the sin offering – to atone for accidental sins. 4) Asham – the guilt offering – to atone for specific sins. 5) Todah – thanksgiving offering – to express gratitude to the Almighty.

Provisions are made for the poor who are permitted to bring kosher birds, or even wheat, for their sacrifices in place of expensive animals.

The Rambam rules that when the third Holy Temple will be built it is the Todah, the thanksgiving offering, that will be offered exclusively, expressing our gratitude to Hashem for His goodness.

PURIM is here!!!

Purim commemorates the salvation of the Jewish people in Ancient Persia from Haman's plot to kill all Jews in a single day. Set in Persia 2,300 years ago, the "Megillah" tells how a seemingly unrelated series of events spun together to save the Jewish people from annihilation. Purim is Judaism's most dramatic, fun-filled holiday. Here are the mitzvot and customs of Purim at NHBZ:

1. Fast of Esther

- To commemorate the day of prayer and fasting that the Jewish people held in the book of Esther, we fast Thursday, March 21st beginning at 5:42 am and concluding at 7:55 pm.

2. Read the Book of Esther- Mitzvah of Mikra Megillah

- It is a Mitzvah to head the Megillah read twice, once at night and once by day!

| Saturday, March 23 rd | Sunday, March 24 th |
|----------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| 8:30 pm Ma'ariv | 8:00 am Shacharis |
| 8:45 pm Megillah Reading | 8:30 am Megillah Reading |

3. Give Charity- Mitzvah of Matanot L'Evyonim (to be distributed on Purim Day)

- NHBZ has, in years past, collected money for Od Yosef Chai, an organization that distributes money to the poor in Israel. Make any checks payable to Rabbi's Charity fund and bring/send them to our office. To donate by credit card, please call Nora at 314-991-2100. The deadline for contributions is Thursday, March 21st.

4. Send Gifts to Friends- Mitzvah of Mishloach Manot

- Fulfill the mitzvah of Mishloach Manot! Give actual gifts of food (two kinds of food OR one food and one drink) to at least one friend!

5. Eat a Festive Meal- Mitzvah of Seudah Purim

- Sunday, March 24th
- 4:00 pm Mincha
- 4:15 pm Purim Seudah
- Join us for a magical Purim evening, with a magician, costumes, drinks, and food! The festive meal is dedicated by the Cohen-McCary-Swerdlin Families to commemorate the second Yahrzeit of their dear father, Yankel Ben Avraham Ha'Kohen.

Book Club Meets This Monday

The Sisterhood Book Club is currently reading Under Jerusalem: The Buried History of the World's Most Contested City, by Andrew Lawler. This intriguing book explores the findings of the many archeologists who studied what lies beneath the modern city and how it all affects today's political and social landscape.

Join us on Monday, March 25, 7:15-8:45 pm, at the home of Joyce Hochberg in Olivette. Sharon Summers will lead the discussion. We will also be selecting our next book choices, so bring your list of suggestions!

Be sure to RSVP – ASAP!! Call or email... Joyce Hochberg at joycesing@hotmail.com, or Fran at 314-993-4024, fran.alper@outlook.com or sisterhood@nhbz.org

VAYIKRA The Pursuit of Meaning

“ Each of us is unique. Even genetically identical twins are different. There are things only we can do, we who are what we are, in this time, this place, and these circumstances. For each of us G-d has a task: work to perform, a kindness to show, a gift to give, love to share, loneliness to ease, pain to heal, or broken lives to help mend. Discerning that task, hearing Vayikra, G-d's call, is one of the great spiritual challenges for each of us.

How do we know what it is? Where what we want to do meets what needs to be done, that is where G-d wants us to be.”

–Rabbi Lord Jonathan Sacks zt"l

The Pursuit of Meaning, Vayikra, Covenant & Conversation

ZACHOR: Generating Doubt

Parshat Tetzaveh usually precedes Purim, when we read the "maftir" portion describing how Amalek attacked the Jewish people as they left Egypt - even though Amalek lived in a distant land and was under no imminent threat.

So why did Amalek attack?

The Torah says that Amalek attacked the Jews "karcha" - which literally means by way of happenstance. Amalek's entire philosophy is that there is no design or providence in the world. Everything is haphazard, dictated by chance, luck, and fate. That's why Haman, a direct descendent of Amalek, decided to kill the Jews based on a lottery, from which the name "Purim" is derived.

Philosophically, Amalek and the Jewish people stand at opposite ends of the spectrum. Judaism believes that the world has purpose and meaning, and that G-d is intimately involved in our lives. Indeed, that is the very lesson of Purim: Even when things seem bleak, G-d is there, guiding events. With Haman's decree, it seemed that the Jews were doomed. But then there was a dramatic turnaround.

In our own lives, to the extent we may doubt G-d's involvement, is the extent that Amalek's philosophy of randomness is part of us.

The Kabbalists point out the numerical value of Amalek -- 240 -- is the same as safek, meaning "doubt." The energy of Amalek is to create doubts about what is true and real in this world, and of G-d's role in directing events in the best possible way.

This concept is so important that one of 613 mitzvot is to remember what Amalek did. And that's what we do, every year, on the Shabbat before Purim. So, let's take this message to heart, and do our part - to fight Amalek's idea of a random world.
